OVERVIEW

Your Inventory, Now Sellable

USA Errands is giving vendors a new way to sell the inventory already stored in our warehouse. If you're looking for more opportunities to sell, or you currently don't have an ecommerce website, you can spin up a simple storefront powered entirely by your existing stock — set your own retail prices, run discount codes, and get paid directly.

Your storefront comes with a dedicated link you can share with your customers. Every order placed through it flows straight to us for fulfillment — no manual entry required.

Two features, one foundation

This guide covers two related but separate features: your Storefront (your own branded shopping link) and the USA Errands Marketplace (an optional, free add-on that lists your products alongside other vendors'). Marketplace requires a storefront to already exist.

Only inventory in our care can be featured

Both your Storefront and the Marketplace can only list inventory that is currently stored with USA Errands. Products you haven't shipped to our warehouse can't be featured on either — if it isn't in our care, it can't be sold through these features.

GETTING STARTED

Creating Your Storefront

Your storefront is built from inventory you already have stored with USA Errands. Storefront creation is only available to vendors based in countries where Flutterwave is operational. Setup covers five things:

- Set your retail prices — you decide what your products sell for
- Set up discount codes — run promotions and campaigns whenever you like
- Set up your payout account — connect where your sales revenue is sent
- Declare your returns policy — whether you allow returns, and your return window
- Get your storefront link — a dedicated URL ready to share with customers

One-time storefront creation fee

Creating a storefront is a one-time $50 fee, deducted from your wallet. There is no recurring subscription for the storefront itself.

Payouts & Supported Countries

Payouts are handled through Flutterwave. For now, storefronts are only available to vendors based in countries where Flutterwave is operational — this determines where payout accounts can be set up.

Returns Policy

Before going live on your storefront, you must declare a returns policy — whether you allow returns at all, and if so, what your return window is (how many days after delivery a customer can request one).

Returns only — no exchanges

USA Errands processes returns only; exchanges are not offered. Standard USA Errands return processing fees apply, and the cost of shipping the returned item back is the customer's responsibility, not yours.

FEES

What You'll Actually Pay

USA Errands does not take a cut of your storefront sales. The costs to plan for are:

Fee	Details
Storefront Creation	$50 one-time fee, charged to your wallet when the storefront is created.
Sales Commission	None. USA Errands does not take a percentage of your storefront sales.
Flutterwave Remitting Fee	Charged by Flutterwave on payouts, not by USA Errands. Factor this into your retail price before going live.
Fulfillment Fees	Charged to your wallet only when an order is fulfilled — same as any other order.
Shipping Fees	Paid by the customer at checkout and remitted to USA Errands directly. Not charged to your wallet.

Price with the remitting fee in mind

Since USA Errands doesn't control what Flutterwave charges to remit your payout, it's worth building that fee into your retail price ahead of time, rather than absorbing it after the sale.

BEHIND THE SCENES

How An Order Flows

Once your storefront is live, the process from click to delivery is fully automated:

01	Customer Shops	A customer visits your storefront link and browses your inventory.
02	Customer Checks Out	They pay for their order, including shipping, at checkout.
03	Order Flows To Us	The order is automatically sent to USA Errands — no manual entry needed.
04	We Fulfill It	We pick, pack, and ship the order like any other fulfillment request.
05	Fees Settle	Shipping is remitted to USA Errands; only the fulfillment fee is charged to your wallet.

No manual request needed

Storefront orders skip the manual Fulfillment Request step entirely — they're submitted for you automatically the moment a customer checks out.

REACH MORE SHOPPERS

USA Errands Marketplace

The USA Errands Marketplace is an optional feature that puts your products in front of shoppers browsing beyond just your own storefront link.

Toggle on or off at any time

Free to use — no additional fee

Only available once your storefront has been created

When toggled on, customers browsing the USA Errands Marketplace can shop your products alongside inventory from other vendors currently selling on the marketplace — giving you exposure to shoppers who never visited your storefront link directly.

Because everything on the Marketplace ships from the same USA Errands warehouse, a customer can add products from multiple vendors to a single cart, and that order ships together as one shipment.

Your storefront link stays yours

Toggling on the Marketplace doesn't change what customers see on your dedicated storefront link — they'll still see only your products there. Marketplace exposure is additional, not a replacement.

Works Alongside What You Already Use

Using a storefront or the marketplace doesn't change how anything else works on your account. You can still create Fulfillment Requests manually, and Store Integration (connecting an existing online store so orders flow in automatically) works exactly as before, side by side with your new storefront.

ANSWERS

Frequently Asked Questions

Do I need my own website to use this?

No — that's the whole idea. Your storefront is generated for you, powered by inventory you already have stored with USA Errands.

Is there a fee to create a storefront?

Yes, a one-time $50 fee is charged to your wallet when your storefront is created.

Does USA Errands take a cut of my sales?

No. We don't charge any commission on storefront sales. The only third-party cost is the remitting fee Flutterwave charges on payouts, which you can factor into your retail price.

Which countries can use the storefront feature?

For now, storefronts are available to vendors in countries where Flutterwave — our payout provider — is operational.

Can I set my own prices and run discounts?

Yes. You set your own retail prices and can create discount codes whenever you'd like to run a promotion.

How do shipping fees work on storefront orders?

The customer pays shipping at checkout, and that amount is remitted directly to USA Errands. It is not charged to your wallet.

What does get charged to my wallet, then?

Only the fulfillment fee for each order — the same fee structure as any other order we fulfill for you.

Is the Marketplace feature free?

Yes, joining the Marketplace is free. It only requires that your storefront already exists.

Can I turn the Marketplace on and off?

Yes, it's a toggle you can switch on or off at any time.

If I join the Marketplace, will my storefront link show other vendors' products too?

No. Your dedicated storefront link only ever shows your own products. The Marketplace is a separate, shared shopping destination where your products appear alongside others'.

Can a customer buy from more than one vendor at once on the Marketplace?

Yes. Since everything on the Marketplace ships from the same USA Errands warehouse, a customer can add products from multiple vendors to one cart, and the order ships together as a single shipment.

Can I feature products I haven't shipped to USA Errands yet?

No. Only inventory currently stored with USA Errands can be listed on your Storefront or the Marketplace — products not in our care can't be featured on either.

Do I still need to submit Fulfillment Requests manually?

Not for storefront or Marketplace orders — those flow to us automatically. You can still create manual Fulfillment Requests for orders placed anywhere else.

Can I use Store Integration and a storefront at the same time?

Yes. Storefront, Marketplace, manual Fulfillment Requests, and Store Integration all work independently of one another — using one doesn't switch off the others.
